Lighting can be a source of ambiance as well as an opportunity to save energy when done properly. Increased comfort, ambiance and energy savings can be key ideas to sell to your clients when discussing their remodeling needs.

When it comes to energy efficiency, homeowners have plenty of options. However, many overlook a key energy-saving opportunity—lighting. Lighting accounts for almost 20% of the average homeowner's monthly electric bill.

Today's energy-conscious homeowners are also environmentally aware. They want to do more than just save money—they want to go "green." With lighting control systems homeowners can do both and have an "upgrade" that their friends will admire!
